Exquisite rectangular polychrome majolica plaque. The plaque, likely for devotional purposes, depicts the Virgin Mary with her hands clasped, a veil, and a flowing dress. The Virgin is shown crushing the serpent, a symbol of original sin. The painted and enameled guilloche frame is also unique, lending further refinement to the overall effect. This is an object of great taste and elegance, capable of adding a touch of class and antiquity to any setting. The plaque is also in perfect condition. Made in Tuscany by the famous Montelupo ceramics workshop, late 17th century. Dimensions: H x W x D 31 x 20 x 2cm
