Description

A charming scene of a village regaining its freedom after the war in 1945. An unusual theme, rendered with vibrant colors, a sense of escape, vitality, and depth, and a bold use of light.

Roland Pottier, French School. Roland Pottier is a 20th-century French painter, whose work is highly regarded for its historical significance and his colorful Post-Impressionist style. He is an artist who was recognized by the French government as early as the 1940s. Several of his works were acquired by the National Fund for Contemporary Art (FNAC) between 1945 and 1947. Roland Pottier is a painter of poetic reality

. His style is characterized by scenes of everyday life: He painted extensively about France during the Reconstruction era and the postwar period (bustling villages, street scenes,
