Description

Art Deco dessert set in silver with Minerva head motif and gilded metal, early 20th century. A true gem of French tableware, these four pieces are known as a "dessert set." Their handles are made of solid silver hallmarked with the Minerva head, and their heads are made of gilded metal. Complete and in very good condition, they come in their original case; they are used to serve small appetizers, desserts, or cheese. Dating from the Art Deco period in the early 20th century (1910-1939), they perfectly capture the essence of that era with their sophisticated geometric forms and a taste for nature-inspired motifs. Still fully functional, they are ideal for an Art Deco-inspired table setting or for a collection.
