

22k Gold Neo-etruscan Brooch With A Silver Corinthian Drachma, 19th Century

3 700 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Gold

Description

Etruscan revival greek Drachma brooch in 22 karats gold. Lozenge-shaped brooch with geometric lines, centered with an ancient Greek coin in a circular double bezel setting. The coin is a silver drachma of Corinth (375-345 BC), depicting a left-facing profile of Aphrodite with a flying Pegasus on the reverse. The mount is decorated at each corner with a raised gold bead. Neo-Etruscan style brooch reminiscent of the work of Castellani, Carlo Giuliano, or Pierre and Eugène Fontenay. Antique brooch, late 19th century. Owl hallmark Height: 3.5 cm - Width: 3.5 cm - Thickness: 5 mm Condition: light surface scratches Weight: 11.66 g* The antique case is not sold with the jewel*

Dealer

Maison Mohs

Antique & Vintage jewelry

- sur rendez-vous -

Paris 75004