Description

An early 20th-century living room lamp resting on an elegant Louis XVI-style bronze base decorated with fluting, godrons, and laurel friezes. It is topped with a decorative shade inspired by Audubon's famous ornithological plates, depicting exotic birds in a tropical landscape. This original design evokes the world of cabinets of curiosities, libraries, and natural history collections. The electrical system has been restored and serviced. The lamp is ready for use. A refined decorative piece, ideal for adding a touch of charm and erudition to a classic or eclectic interior. Dimensions: Height: 54 cm. Period: Circa 1910. Please note that these decorative shades can also be custom-made and sold separately to complement a decor or fit other light fixtures. We are available to provide any
