Description

A set of four decorative columns from the 19th century, combining black marble, finely chiseled gilded bronze mounts, and bronze busts of Roman emperors. Rich in classical inspiration, these elegant architectural objects embody the refined taste for antiquity that dominated European decorative arts throughout the 19th century. Each column is carved from polished black marble, whose deep color contrasts with the gilded bronze mounts. Each column is topped by a finely modeled bronze bust of a Roman emperor, inspired by portrait sculpture from Imperial Rome. The expressiveness of the faces, the classical hairstyles, and the finesse of the chiseled details attest to the quality of the bronze casting and finish. Originally designed as decorative objects for a prestigious interior, these
