

19th-century Victorian-period Burr Walnut Three-tier Whatnot

2 200 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Walnut

Width : 61

Height : 104

Depth : 39.5

Description

Fine Quality Victorian Burr Walnut Three-Tier Whatnot Table

An elegant late 19th-century Victorian three-tier burr walnut whatnot of fine quality and refined proportions. The rectangular top is arranged over three identical tiers, all crafted from beautifully figured burr walnut.

Below is a single drawer with turned walnut knob handles, supported by tall, finely turned and carved columns, and raised on stylish feet that end in small brass casters. In excellent original condition, this versatile piece can be used as a display stand, music stand, étagère, or traditional whatnot. It retains its original color, patina, and deep polish, displaying the warm glow and character that only well-preserved 19th-century furniture can offer. English, circa 1880.

Structurally sound and in superb original

Dealer

Anthony Short Antiques

18C & 19C Fine Period Antiques, Decorative Furniture & Works of Art

Tel : 00 44 7595603348

Mobile : 00 44 7595603348

Market Square

Petworth GU28 0AH

condition, this is a prime example of top-tier Victorian cabinetmaking. Both a practical storage solution and a striking decorative feature, this Victorian burr walnut whatnot will enhance any interior that values fine 19th-century craftsmanship, individuality, and timeless style.