

Pair Of Blue-and-white Molded Vases With Elephant-shaped Handles, Kangxi Period

2 200 EUR

Period : 17th century

Condition : Restauré

Material : Porcelain

Height : 30cm

Description

Pair of blue-and-white vases from the Kangxi period, with lids. Floral decoration molded in relief. Scenes of rivers and mountains. Each vase has two white, elephant-shaped handles. Both vases retain their original molded lids. Both lids are damaged, as can be seen in the photographs. One of the vases has been restored at the upper corner. A crack measuring 2 to 3 cm has been repaired. There are some traces of firing defects, characteristic of this type and period of vase.
