Description

19th-century French School Important lively still life with doves Elegant pastel depicting a sumptuous bouquet of peonies, tulips, and garden flowers arranged in a blue earthenware vase. The composition is enlivened by two doves, one white, drinking from a pond, and the other black, positioned in the foreground, within a landscape opening onto a cloudy sky. The work demonstrates a fine mastery of pastel, with a refined rendering of the flowers, foliage, and feathers. Inspired by the great Flemish and French still lifes of the 17th and 18th centuries, it reflects the Romantic taste of the mid-19th century. Presented in a large carved and gilded frame from the 19th century, this generously sized composition, captivated with the richness of its color palette and its beautiful decorative
