Description

A terracotta sculpture depicting a Greek horse, created by the Italian sculptor Alfredo Lanz in the 1950s and signed by the artist. Set on an elegant granite pedestal, this impressive work combines the timeless beauty of classical antiquity with the expressive modeling of mid-20th-century Italian sculpture. Inspired by the noble horses of ancient Greek art, the sculpture captures the animal's strength, elegance, and vitality through refined anatomical modeling and a dynamic pose. Alfredo Lanz masterfully renders movement and balance, paying homage to the equestrian sculptures that have inspired artists for centuries. Crafted from terracotta, the sculpture features a rich texture and warm, natural tones that highlight the piece's artisanal character. The contrast between the terracotta and the polished
