Description

The vase is made of blue/green/purple mottled glass blown into a wrought-iron frame. Two curved, prominent handles, embellished with small brass motifs, accentuate the vase's shape. The upper band of the frame features a stylized floral design, composed of slightly curved stems ending in brass "buds." The lower band is adorned with double stems that diverge at the center of the band to form a figure-eight. The glass blown into this frame forms lobes that extend slightly beyond the metal mesh.
