Description

oil on wood26 cm x 13 cmMonogrammed "CS" in the lower left cornerThis small oil on panel, monogrammed "GC" in the lower left corner, captures a snowy valley in the Riesengebirge Mountains with a fresh, lively touch, its slopes standing out against the horizon in the warm light of late afternoon. An isolated farmhouse and a path cutting through the snow enliven the foreground, while a row of fir trees frames the composition.With its intimate format and loose brushwork, the work evokes a sketch made from life, reflecting a sensitive observation of mountain landscapes in the early 19th century. The Riesengebirge mountain range appears repeatedly in the work of Gustave Carus, who sought to capture its changing atmospheres and the play of light.
