Description

Large dining set made of carved bamboo with a transparent green patina, consisting of a table with a glass top resting on two large, very stable legs, as well as 6 chairs and 2 armchairs...In good condition, but with three small chips that have been restored and are still visible along the edge of the tabletop. The absolute embodiment of the laid-back chic of the 1970s and 1980s, this prestigious complete dining set by McGuire San Francisco is a rare collector's item on the market. The set stands out for its remarkable work in curved, weathered bamboo. The dining table features two imposing, graphic double legs supporting a generous, oblong glass top. It is accompanied by six matching chairs and two matching formal armchairs. Please note: Although the set is in beautiful, well-used
