Description

An elegant Directoire-style sideboard in light mahogany, late 19th century to early 20th century. The front features three drawers in a horizontal row and three doors, providing ample storage space and an interior shelf. The locks and key are in working order. It rests on tapered legs and features beveled side panels adorned with brass moldings and feet, characteristic of the Directoire style. The fine quality of the light mahogany and its warm grain highlight the simplicity and elegance of its lines. This beautifully proportioned piece will be equally at home in a dining room or in a contemporary interior seeking high-quality classic furniture. Delivery within Metropolitan France: EUR180.
