

Pastel Portrait Of A Young Woman, "lydie Bordery," By Benoit Blanc, 1855

550 EUR

Signature : Benoit Blanc Attribué

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Pastel

Description

Benoît BLANC (1812-1862) -Pastel portrait of a young woman, Lydie Bordery, dated February 1855, restored by Dominique Roy Rousselet in 1994 From a noble family in Clermont-Ferrand
Dimensions (artwork): 48 cm x 40 cm /
Dimensions (mount): 58 cm x 48 cm The painter Benoît Blanc, also known as Benoni, was born on March 21, 1812, in Gémenos (Bouches-du-Rhône) and died in 1887. A painter of portraits and landscapes, he was admitted to the art school in Marseille at the age of eight. In 1832, he traveled to Rome, where he worked under the guidance of Horace Vernet before attending Ingres's lectures. He returned to Paris and devoted himself to portraiture; his primary goal was to capture a strong likeness. Among these portraits are Count Amédée de Forbin; Mr.

Dealer

LA COMTESSE G

Antiquités

Mobile : 0767281188

32 rue docteur Claussat

Clermont-Ferrand 63100

R. Bérard; Admiral Bruat; and the Marquis de
Tressemanne