Description

Brass and Cut-Glass Photo Frame - 19th Century
An elegant tabletop photo frame, crafted from brass with an elegant openwork design and cut glass. The frame is embellished with a delicate openwork cornice featuring a stylized floral motif and rests on spherical brass feet, while the back support ensures perfect stability. The simplicity of the structure, combined with the sophisticated floral decoration, makes this piece an elegant decorative accessory, ideal for showcasing vintage photographs, miniatures, or small mementos. The transparency of the glass and the lightness of the design make it a highly refined piece, perfect for elegant and sophisticated settings. Condition: generally well-preserved. The brass has a pleasant patina from age; the glass is intact. Stable and complete
