Description

A rare and beautiful 19th-century Chinese piece, richly carved, depicting a hat-shaped urn vase set within a leafy plum tree laden with fruit; masterfully crafted from a beautiful two-tone amethyst vein--dark purple on light purple--from a single, nuanced stone. An exceptional piece of quality and a testament to artistic mastery in a beautifully carved object; the grace of its airy movement and the quality of the craftsmanship, with a focus on ornamentation, make this lovely hidden vase a high-quality curiosity and a precious, refined display piece; a remarkable achievement given the hardness of quartz, resulting in a significant work in perfect condition--a must-see for collectors of high-quality Asian hard stones.
