Description

An Italian-made walnut table dating from the late 19th century. The tabletop is paneled and features a scalloped edge beneath the surface, which adds a distinctive detail to the design. The molded band adds another element of artisanal craftsmanship, highlighting the skill of the master cabinetmakers of the period. The structure is supported by four turned legs, which not only ensure stability but also create a harmonious visual effect. The legs are joined by crossbars, increasing the overall sturdiness of the piece. This table is a classic example of late 19th-century Italian furniture, perfect for those who appreciate traditional style and high-quality materials.Product condition:Due to its age and wear, this piece requires restoration and refinishing.
