Description

A Baroque console table in carved and gilded wood, from Genoa and dating to the first quarter of the 18th century. The design features a molded top and base, both finished in faux marble, creating an elegant visual continuity. The legs, shaped in an "S" curve, are adorned with refined foliage carvings typical of the Baroque style. A particularly interesting feature is the eagle with outstretched wings, a later addition that enriches the piece with a distinctive touch. Product condition: Due to its age and wear, this item requires restoration and refinishing. We strive to present the actual condition of the piece as fully as possible through the photos. If certain details are not clear from the photos, the information provided in the description takes precedence.
