Description

A beautiful curtain made from the famous "Victor Hugo" fabric by Le Manach, now produced by Pierre Frey. This iconic design, inspired by the grand printed fabrics of the 18th and 19th centuries, captivates with its extraordinary ornamental richness and the brilliance of its colors. Against a luminous ivory background, majestic carmine-red flowers with golden centers unfold, accompanied by elegant blue-green foliage and delicate blossoms in soft tones. Ribbons accented with white add rhythm to the composition, lending the whole a remarkable decorative harmony. Made as a drapery panel, it is ready to hang thanks to its wooden rings and its grommet tape. A discreet seam across the width attests to its meticulous construction, without detracting from the beauty of the design. This
