Description

An original gouache by Sonia Delaunay from the Robert Perrier collection, bearing the collection's stamp on the reverse, as well as studio annotations attesting to its authenticity and provenance. This work is a textile project created as part of the famous collaboration between Sonia Delaunay and Robert Perrier. These preparatory studies, intended for the creation of fabrics, are now a sought-after testament to the union between the artistic avant-garde and the French decorative arts of the 20th century. The geometric composition, with its vibrant colors, is characteristic of the visual language developed by the artist. Presented in a simple frame that perfectly showcases the work, this gouache boasts a particularly sought-after provenance, directly linked to the Robert Perrier collection.
