Description

A beautiful glass vase by Émile Gallé, dating from the early 20th century. The piece is distinguished by its globular shape topped by a flared neck, finely decorated with etched branches and pinecones in multiple layers. The brown naturalistic details stand out against the opalescent satin finish with its warm, nuanced tones. This is a prized object, emblematic of the decorative production of the Nancy School in the early 20th century. Dimensions: 14 x 10.5 cm
