

17th-century Tabernacle Door

Description

Renaissance-era tabernacle door, late 16th-early 17th century. Arched in shape, it is richly decorated with two winged cherub heads framing the upper portion. The central panel features a symbolic design depicting the Mystical Lamb resting on a scroll with seven seals, surmounted by the Cross of the Resurrection and heavenly rays--iconography evoking the Risen Christ. The side panels are decorated with garlands of flowers and fruit carved in relief. The piece retains a beautiful patina and shows wear consistent with its age. This door is of historical and religious interest; the cherubs, garlands, and symbolic decoration are characteristic of the 16th century
