Description

An elegant bronze sculpture depicting a seated Egyptian cat, inspired by depictions of the goddess Bastet, the protector of the home in ancient Egypt. The collar is adorned with stylized hieroglyphic motifs, accentuating its decorative and timeless character. Created in the 1960s, this sculpture features a beautiful brown patina with subtle traces of verdigris, reflecting the natural aging of the bronze. It rests on a wooden base that perfectly highlights its simple and elegant lines. A high-quality decorative piece, ideal for a contemporary interior, a library, or a cabinet of curiosities, sure to appeal to lovers of Egyptian-inspired art and animal sculptures. Bears a "solid bronze" stamp. Period: 1960s Material: Bronze with brown patina, wooden base Subject: Egyptian cat inspired by Bastet Condition: Good
