Description

A beautiful pair of decorative lacquered wooden panels from the Far East (China or Japan) dating from the late 19th century. Each panel is adorned with a rich painted design, enhanced with gilding, depicting birds, fish, figures, and traditional objects set against stylized clouds, in a style inspired by Chinese art. The composition is particularly refined, alternating between lively scenes and symbolic elements. Notable features include large birds with finely detailed plumage, an imposing fish, figures in traditional costumes, and various objects evoking Asian arts and culture. The black lacquer background elegantly highlights the gold and polychrome accents. These panels exemplify the fine decorative craftsmanship of the late 19th century and form a highly decorative set, ideal for adorning a wall or
