Description

A beautiful curiosity: this richly carved vase, carved from a single block of 19th-century almond-green jade with inlaid patterns, a masterpiece of Chinese sculpture, featuring a fau dog and small handles on the lid; adorned with openwork rings carved from the solid mass, featuring elephant-head motifs on the sides, as well as raised rings at the base of the foot. With its elegant shape crafted from a semi-precious material, this finely carved and polished vase offers a remarkable silhouette and is, par excellence, a precious collector's item for a beautiful display case.
