Description

A stunning Kazak-patterned rug from the Caucasus. Traditionally woven and knotted using wool-on-wool technique. Fine, delicate knotwork. The rug is supple. Classic composition featuring three large medallions on a rich indigo-blue central field. It has beautiful depth; the exclusively plant-based dyes stand out and contrast with the ecru and ivory sections. The contrasts are striking, and everything comes together in an elegant and subtle harmony. The outer borders, featuring midnight blue crocheted threads on a madder red background, are superb. In addition to this rich color palette, one will appreciate the presence of a magnificent bottle green on the central medallion and the inner border. Circa 1900 Very good condition Dimensions: 190 x 104
