Description

Remarkable African statuette--Africa, Nigeria? This statuette appears to be quite old; unfortunately, I have not been able to identify the style or culture to which it belongs. A statuette of feminine appearance with an elaborate headdress and numerous scarifications above the chest. Short, arched legs. A round, prominent belly--perhaps a depiction of a pregnant woman. The forearms have not been carved. Two cowrie shells serve as the eyes. A slit in the wood. Weight: 405 g Height: 28 cm
