Description

An exceptional pair of high-quality paintings with carved and gilded wooden frames. One painting depicts the muses Melpomene, Erato, and Polyhymnia playing music. It is a scene from a major work based on a painting by Eustache Le Sueur, a famous painter of the Baroque period. The second painting depicts a scene of a group of musicians, "The Concert," based on the famous work by François Courtin, a renowned French painter of the Rococo period. The pair, from the 18th-century German-Austrian school, are anonymous, but the artist is likely to be found among the circle of Johann Conrad Seekatz. A pair of exceptional quality.
