Description

English Mahogany Revolving Bookcase with Marquetry, circa 1920-1940 An elegant English rotating bookcase dating from the early to mid-20th century, crafted from beautiful flamed mahogany and enhanced with delicate satinwood inlays. Resting on discreet brass casters, this ingenious piece swivels easily and offers practical storage space on all four sides while taking up very little floor space. Its rotating design makes it ideal for displaying books, magazines, decorative items, or small collectibles in an office, library, or living room. The square top is adorned with an elegant central medallion of marquetry, framed by delicate inlaid fillets. The openwork slatted structure gives the piece a light, refined, and harmonious appearance from every angle. Both decorative and functional, this rotating bookcase
