Description

A rare and charming 19th-century Aubusson tapestry, woven in the Chinoiserie style that defined European decorative arts in the 18th and 19th centuries. It features a refined composition brought to life by five Chinese figures moving through an exotic garden. A dignitary sits beneath an elegant pavilion, while other figures stroll or converse amid lush vegetation dotted with palm trees, flowering shrubs, and delicate birds. The entire scene is framed by a generous red border adorned with rich garlands of flowers, fruits, and decorative medallions. The remarkably fresh colors--a blend of deep red, warm brown, celadon blue, pink, and soft green--give this tapestry an exceptional decorative presence. A reinforcement strip has been carefully sewn onto the back to allow for easy and secure hanging. A charming
