Description

A pair of large porcelain vases from Sèvres, dating from the late 19th century, adorned with rich mounts of finely chiseled and gilded bronze. Resting on beveled pedestals, these vases feature an elegant silhouette accented by openwork handles with botanical motifs, highlighting the refinement of their craftsmanship. The bodies are decorated with delicate, hand-painted romantic landscapes depicting classical gardens featuring monumental staircases, balustrades, ponds, and foliage in autumnal hues. The necks, adorned with the famous Sèvres blue background, are enhanced by delicate foliage and gilded motifs. This pair perfectly illustrates the excellence of the Sèvres Manufactory in the late 19th century, a period renowned for its exceptional decorative creations.
