Description

A striking candlestick, rare piece with a particularly elegant shape, featuring a wide, circular base with a slight concavity engraved with concentric circles, truncated conical shaft, and flared bowl shaped like a small Medici vase.... Cast from airain--a quality of bronze that is silky to the eye but brittle--its base has been entirely reworked on lathe (see below), then riveted and sealed with pewter beneath a beautiful antique patina. Good condition, attractive appearance, though with one flaw: a small crack on rim; see the dedicated photo. Height: 19 cm, diameter: 14 cm, Weight: approximately 0.6 kg. This authentic piece is likely from Henry IV period. Condition: Good overall condition. Slight warping at the base. Beautiful silky patina. Immediate purchase: payment accepted via credit
