

Bacchus

Description

A beautiful pair of Parisian porcelain vases, likely from the workshops of Jacob Petit and Jacquemin, in a baluster shape; on a black background, a floral garland, on the other side, a frieze depicting children at play, symbolizing the procession of Bacchus, which is depicted below this frieze, along with a decoration of grapevines. Our vases embody the exuberance of the 19th century, a time of promise and the Industrial Revolution.
