

Hispano-moresque Lustre Pottery Dish, Spain, Possibly Valencia, 17th-18th Century

390 EUR

Period : 17th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Earthenware

Diameter : 18 cm

Description

Hispano-Moresque lustre pottery dish, Spain, possibly Valencia, 17th-18th century Diameter: 18 cm

Technique: Tin-glazed earthenware with metallic lustre decoration

A deep dish with a slightly everted rim, decorated with a metallic lustre in coppery tones, in places golden and violet. At the centre, a roundel encloses a scalloped leaf motif recalling a stylised pine cone, surrounded by scrolls and volutes; the rim alternates lobes and pointed leaves punctuated by small clusters of dots. The reverse is glazed white but undecorated with lustre, showing some drips and splashes of coppery lustre from firing. The decorative scheme and handling of the design belong to the tradition of Spanish workshops in the Valencia region, which

Dealer

Antichità di Alina

Peintures anciennes - Art nouveau - Art déco, micromosaïques, porcelaine

Mobile : +39 3383199131

Via Maggio 63 / rosso

Firenze 50100

continued from the late Middle Ages a production of lustreware derived from the Hispano-Islamic repertoire.