Description

Superb high jewellery ring crafted in 18-carat yellow gold, featuring a remarkable rectangular step-cut green tourmaline of deep, vibrant colour. Highly prized for its rich hues and exceptional brilliance, green tourmaline is one of the most fascinating gemstones in the world of gemmology. Occurring in a wide range of colours, tourmalines have long been appreciated by jewellers, with the finest green examples being particularly sought after for their vivid colour and remarkable transparency.

The sculptural setting is a fine example of high jewellery craftsmanship. Broad satin-finished shoulders gracefully embrace the central gemstone in a fluid, organic design, while three delicate diamond-set scrolls on each side add brilliance and refinement without disturbing the purity of the composition.

The contrast between the polished settings, the satin-finished gold and the intense green of the tourmaline gives this ring an exceptional presence on the hand. The design is reminiscent of the finest international jewellery creations of the 1970s and 1980s, where bold volumes are combined with impeccable craftsmanship.

A striking yet timeless ring, created for collectors and lovers of exceptional gemstones and distinctive fine jewellery.
