Description

Their demeanor is serene, their steps light, and the atmosphere bucolic. The scene as a whole embodies a mise en abîme. The pond is almost still; the background symbolizes the toil of labor, the woods the countryside, and the path the journey forward. The cows then complete the scene. The floral frame adds yet another layer to the composition. Clovis Terraire was born on November 14, 1858, in Marseille and died on April 2, 1931, in Lyon. He exhibited at the Salon de Lyon as well as at the Salon des artistes français. He received various awards throughout his career. The work is listed. (46x33 cm) Shipping available but not included in the price.
