Description

Lightweight crystal wine decanter, complete with its original stopper, acid-etched with floral motifs. An antique model from the late 19th-early 20th century, unmarked but attributed with reasonable certainty to the Baccarat house. It is important to note that not all models of decanters and glassware produced by Baccarat before 1916 have been published in known catalogs. A significant portion of the light crystal sets and acid-etched decorations produced between the late 19th and early 20th centuries were never published in commercial catalogs. These models are documented exclusively in the Baccarat Archives, preserved by the company and available for consultation upon request.
