Description

This drawing was created by S. Czerefkow and bears the inscription "André Salmon" on the back. It is a pen-and-ink drawing on glass, typical of the 1930s. Please note that there are minor stains on the paper. Serge Grès (1899-1970)--whose real name was Serge Czerefkow--left Paris in 1932 to settle in Tahiti, where he exhibited for the first time in 1935. Other major exhibitions took place in Nouméa in 1954 and then in Tahiti in 1964. Our photos allow you to appreciate the quality of the work. For details on the condition, please refer to the photos.
