Description

17th-century Louis XIII armchair in walnut. Elegant 17th-century Louis XIII armchair in solid walnut. It rests on four turned legs connected by an H-shaped, scrolled brace, typical of Louis XIII furniture. The curved, crooked armrests, the tall, straight backrest, and the harmonious proportions attest to the quality of its craftsmanship. The backrest is upholstered in a fabric featuring a foliage pattern in warm tones, accented by traditional tacking. The walnut wood displays a beautiful antique patina, highlighting the authentic character of this chair. This armchair will naturally find its place in a classic interior, a château, a stately home, or a collection of antique furniture. Period: 17th century, Louis XIII. Wood: solid walnut. Condition: good overall condition, solid and stable, upholstery shows signs of
