

19th-century Victorian Period Mahogany Revolving Bookcase

3 000 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Mahogany

Width : 60.5

Height : 92.5

Depth : 60.5

Description

Superb Quality Large 19th-Century Mahogany Two-Tier Revolving Bookcase An attractive 19th-century mahogany revolving bookcase with slatted sides, a square solid mahogany top with a molded edge, above a two-tiered bookshelf with quarter sections divided by plain mahogany slats running from top to base, fastened with brass studs. The entire piece stands on cross stretchers with a revolving framed iron base and iron fittings, ending in ceramic casters. The piece has a superb original color and patina. In terms of condition, this revolving bookcase is in excellent original condition, boasting a rich patina on the solid mahogany, which speaks to its quality craftsmanship and the care it has received over the years. The figured mahogany exhibits a rich, warm patina, enhancing its visual appeal. This tall

Dealer

Anthony Short Antiques

18C & 19C Fine Period Antiques, Decorative Furniture & Works of Art

Tel : 00 44 7595603348

Mobile : 00 44 7595603348

Market Square

Petworth GU28 0AH

bookcase is not only a testament to exceptional early Victorian craftsmanship but also a striking example of classic design, making it an ideal piece for any refined interior.