Description

Large, low-pile rug woven from wool on a cotton foundation using the tapestry technique, featuring a central floral medallion, bouquets in the spandrels, and wide borders resembling moldings. In its original dimensions and in good condition with no tears or repairs; however, PLEASE NOTE that like any antique woven rug (and not modern reproductions... which one might see elsewhere...), this rug shows minor signs of wear from age; some loose knots, and minor stains from age. But in very good overall condition for its age. An Aubusson piece from the mid-19th century, the Louis-Philippe/Napoleon III era
Dimensions: 360 cm x 268 cm
