Description

A half-moon chest of drawers made of precious wood veneer and marquetry, crafted in the Louis XVI style in the late 19th century, during the Second Empire. It features three drawers on the front and two curved side doors, revealing the original storage shelves. The fronts are adorned with delicate floral marquetry and scrollwork framed by fillets, reflecting meticulous cabinetmaking craftsmanship. It rests on four tapered legs topped with bronze feet and is richly adorned with chiseled and gilded bronze: drop-style ring handles, lock plates, corner finials, and a lamp base decorated with oak leaves and acorns. The piece is topped with its original purplish-red breccia marble top, in excellent condition, which perfectly highlights the elegance of its curved lines. Both functional and decorative,
