Description

Portrait of a Noblewoman, Period: Empire This Empire-period (early 19th century) half-length portrait depicts a young noblewoman in the neoclassical style. The woman wears a typical high-waisted white dress with a wide tulle ruff, embellished with jewelry, and her short curls are gathered with a headband. The painting, an oil on canvas with a dark background that highlights the complexion, is set in its original period frame made of wood gilded with gold leaf.
