Hammered and repoussé silver, partially gilded, with a fineness of 13 loths. Weight: 105 g. Bears the silversmith's hallmark, used by him until 1694, as well as the hallmark of the city of Gdansk. A truncated conical goblet, decorated with a repoussé design characteristic of Baroque Gdansk silversmithing in the late 17th century. The composition depicts daffodils, tulips, and anemones surrounded by stylized leaves. In the lower section, the design is highlighted by fine hatching, while toward the flared rim, it is framed by a row of small punched indentations. The gilding on the background accentuates the silver floral design.
