800 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Oil painting on wood

Description

Oil on panel signed "Raymond Tournon" lower right and located at Gaillac (Tarn, France), depicting a sunlit garden: a house with green shutters fronted by a monumental balustraded staircase, a large tree casting its shade over the path, flowering borders and a beautiful southern light playing across the stonework. A luminous, lively composition with the free, colourful touch characteristic of the artist. Frame: 49 x 57 cm Work: 37 x 45 cm Raymond Tournon (Bois-Colombes, 1901 - Bayeux, 1975), known as "the son", was a French painter and set designer for theatre and cinema. The son of the painter and poster artist Raymond Tournon (1870-1919), he trained at the École des Gobelins and frequented Montparnasse, where he became friends with Foujita, Soutine and Paul Poiret. Deeply attached
