Description

Oil on panel signed "A. Trassard" lower right, depicting a lively scene of the return from fishing in the port of Concarneau (Brittany): tunny boats and luggers with ochre sails moored along the quay, fishermen unloading their nets, women in Breton coiffes carrying baskets and villagers on the pier, the town silhouetted beneath a luminous end-of-day sky. A rich, atmospheric composition with a fine golden light, in the tradition of Breton marine painters. The green boat bears the registration "CC" (the maritime district of Concarneau). 38 x 55 cm. A. Trassard was a 20th-century French marine painter, known for Breton harbour scenes and returns from fishing. His works appear at public auction.
