Henri Barnoin (1882-1940) French painter renowned for his genre scenes, Breton landscapes, and seascapes. Born in Paris, he studied at the École des Beaux-Arts under Luc-Olivier Merson, but he owed his taste for vibrant landscapes primarily to Émile Dameron, his second mentor. Fascinated by Brittany, he settled in Concarneau in 1919, where he opened a studio that became a gathering place for many artists. There he drew his main inspiration, painting markets, bustling harbors, traditional festivals, and scenes of daily life with a luminous palette and a keen sense of composition. Henri Barnoin is considered a major representative of the Concarneau School. He also excelled in
