Description

A pair of important decorative columns in carved rosewood, embellished with elegant inlays of Verde delle Alpi marble, made in the early decades of the 19th century and originating from central Italy. The columns feature refined sculptural work in the late Baroque style, with rich plant motifs, volutes, and fantastical figures skillfully carved in full relief. The slender structure is enhanced by the warm tones of the rosewood and the striking color contrast provided by the veined green marble, set at the center of the shaft. The compositional balance, the quality of the carving, and the refined decoration make this pair a prime example of high-quality Italian craftsmanship of the period, ideal as striking ornamental elements in classical settings, historic residences, or prestigious antique
