Description

Patinated Bronze Sculpture of a Saddled Horse, Early 20th Century
An elegant patinated bronze sculpture depicting a saddled horse standing on a rectangular base. The piece stands out for the finesse of its modeling, particularly in the animal's graceful posture, the expression on its head, the rendering of its legs, and the meticulously crafted details of the saddle and tack. The bronze's dark patina lends depth and character to the sculpture, while the textured base enhances its natural and decorative appeal. Dating from the early 20th century, this equestrian bronze makes a beautiful decorative piece for a classic interior, a library, an office, a display case, or a collection dedicated to the world of horses. A refined piece with harmonious proportions and a strong decorative presence. Details: Type:
